GARDNER-GILROY NUPTIALS

Blairmore Central United church, appropriately decorated with garden flowers for the occasion, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Thursday evening last, when Lily Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mrs. Gilroy and the late Mr. F. Gilroy, of Blairmore, became the bride of Mr. Albert William Sykes Gardner, of Blairmore, formerly of Calgary, youngest son of Mrs. R. Gardner, of Penticton, B.C. Rev. E. B. Arrol officiated.

Lovely in a powder blue fitted jacket dress with matching accessories, and wearing a corsage of roses, the bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Richard Harrison, of Michel, B.C., to the strains of the Wedding March played by Miss Ruth Arrol. She was attended by Miss Ellen Pilfield, of Blairmore, who chose for the occasion an old rose fitted jacket dress with white accessories and wearing a corsage of roses. Mr. E. Suttin, of Calgary, acted as groomsmen.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, who received the guests, wearing a dress of rose sheer. Mrs. H. A. Moore and Mrs. J. Patterson poured tea, and were assisted by Mrs. F. Imrey, Miss M. Patterson and Miss D. Moore. The bride's table was centered by a three-tier wedding cake. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. C.W.A.C. REQUIRES RECRUITS

Officers and other ranks of the Canadian Women's Army Corps enlist for service anywhere in the world for the duration of the war and for twelve months thereafter should they be required. A candidate for enlistment in the C.W.A.C. at the present time must be either "A" or "B" medical category, minimum height five feet; weight not lower than 105, nor ten pounds above or below the standard of weight laid down in the table for her height; must not have children under the age of sixteen; must have grade eight or equivalent education; their ages now must be between eighteen and forty-five.

All recruits are required to undergo a four weeks' training course at C. W.A.C. basic training centres. Here a special syllabus is given and upon completion of the course, the recruits are despatched to the various military districts, where they are placed in employment to release soldiers for more active duties.

Promotions are made from the ranks by selection, candidates selected being required to take either non-commissioned officers' or officers' promotional course at the C.W.A.C. training centre. First commissioned rank in the Canadian Women's Army Corps is that of 2nd lieutenant.

Capacities in which the Canadian Women's Army Corps personnel are serving include clerks, typists, stenographers, switchboard operators, laboratory technicians, X-Ray technicians, drivers, mechanics, electricians, cooks, waitresses, draughtsmen, messengers, dental assistants, hospital assistants, bookkeepers, radio operators and others.

Army regulations are enforced insofar as they can be made applicable to women. The corps is disciplined by its own officers, and in the event of adequate punishment being beyond the powers of a Canadian Women's Army Corps officer, the offender may be tried by an officer other than in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, providing he is not below the rank of major.

Armed Forces Of Canada And U.S. To Combine

Ottawa.—Co-operation between the armed forces of Canada and the United States reached a new high with announcement of the formation of a combined special force for offensive warfare.

The announcement came from Washington and was confirmed here by Defence Minister Ralston, and he gave some further details of Canada's share in the force.

The second-in-command is a Canadian—Lt.-Col. J. G. McQueen of Calgary. Col Ralston said various phases of the training of the combined force will be carried out "in the United States and Canada" as well as at the training headquarters in Helena, Mont.

Parachute attacks, marine landings, mountain fighting and desert warfare will all form parts of the training and operational role assigned to the body which will be known as the 1st special service force.

It will be a continental American edition of the commandos of the British army. In selecting the men to make it up, emphasis will be placed on "youth, hardiness and fitness."

The first Canadian troops assigned to the force have already arrived at Helena. While the Canadian contribution will include both officers and men it is understood the force will form one body without any special Canadian or United States wing or section. The force will wear a special uniform, distinct from either that of the Canadian or the United States army, but its design has not been decided yet.

Col Robert T. Frederick of the United States army will be in command. Col. McQueen, the second-in-command, has just returned from overseas where he was second-in-command of the Calgary Highlanders.

Announcement of the formation of the force comes soon after the decision to form Canadian parachute battalions was disclosed, but there is no special relation between the two. A number of Canadians are going to Fort Benning, Ga., for training in parachute work with the United States army, but none has arrived there yet.

They will return to Canada to serve as instructors and leaders in the formation of wholly Canadian parachute units in the Canadian army and in a parachute training school which will be established here.

Organization of the new combined force from soldiers of two countries marks a new departure in international co-operation. While the forces of Canada and the United States have been co-operating since early in the present war in the defence of this continent, they have co-operated as separate forces and have not merged their identities in a combined body as now is being made.

Canadian and United States troops serve together in Newfoundland but each has its own establishment. Squadrons of the Royal Canadian Air Force and some army units are serving with United States forces in defence of Alaska but while they serve under American command they are in their own units. Units of the Royal Canadian Navy also operate under United States command in certain waters and under British command in other waters but retain their separate identity.

Efficiency and economy in time and effort are seen as advantages to be gained by pooling the special training and other activities of such a force.

It is highly specialized. In the normal course of things it will be used for special jobs, such as striking at an invader who may establish a foothold on this continent or forming the spearhead of an invasion of enemy territory.

BAN TIGHTENED

Order Forbids Manufacture Of Electric Toasters, Irons And Fans

Ottawa.—The department of munitions and supply announced the ban on manufacture of electric toasters, electric irons and electric fans after Aug. 15.

The order rescinds a previous one limiting output to 50 per cent. of 1940 production.

Manufacture of many other electrical appliances—grills, percolators, stoves for glass coffee makers, tea kettles, boilers, food mixers, sandwich toasters, roasters, waffle irons and other items—was banned previously.

LABOR EXCHANGE

Canada And United States Will Share Harvest Workers

Calgary.—Arrangements have been completed for the free flow across the international border of harvest workers and machinery, under a reciprocal agreement between Canada and U.S., W. Harry Ross, Calgary unemployment and insurance commission manager, announced.

The agreement was worked out in an effort to ease the shortage of farm labor. Under it, harvesting units from U.S. will be allowed to come into Canada accompanied by the owner or lesser aid not more than four helpers. No labor may pass over the border, except as part of such harvesting units, Mr. Ross said. In the same manner Canadian out-lets may cross over into the U.S. Crews of the units will be allowed to stay over the border 29 days from the date of application and a truck or tractor or auto is allowed to go with the unit to its destination, but not move from one job to another.

Women's Army Corps Expected To Be Increased

Ottawa.—Some 30,000 Canadian women will be wearing the King's uniform before another year is out if the present rate of expansion of the women's services continues.

The recent announcement that members of the women's division of the Royal Canadian Air Force will go overseas, coming on the heels of a similar intimation of overseas service for members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, indicates the women will be sent wherever Canadian fighting men are stationed in large numbers.

The C.W.A.C. now has a strength of about 4,000 and is working to get 1,000 new recruits a month so it will have 10,000 by the end of the year.

The women's division of the air force has about 5,000 girls on strength and its expansion plans call for a total of 15,000 by the end of 1943.

The recently authorized Women's Royal Naval service has not yet taken on any recruits but active preparations are being made for enlisting and training 3,000 women in the first year and a total of 7,000 eventually.

It has not yet been decided how many airwomen will be sent overseas but it is expected the first movement will be small and will consist largely of clerical workers for employment at the overseas headquarters of the R.C.A.F. The women immediately needed overseas are stenographers, telephone operators, filing clerks and perhaps a few drivers.

While requests have come from the army overseas for women—and it is the intention to meet them—no decision has yet been made on an overseas movement. The C.W.A.C. is hard pressed to meet demands for girl workers in army offices and camps in Canada.

One of the jobs believed awaiting the C.W.A.C. overseas is the operation of a big army laundry.

The work women do is much the same in all three services—office work, driving and servicing cars and vehicles, washing, cleaning, cooking, waiting on tables and other jobs in which they can release able-bodied men for fighting duties.

WAR SAVINGS

Certificates Now On Sale At Chartered Banks And Post Offices

Ottawa.—War savings certificates in $5, $10 and $25 denominations are on sale over the counters of all chartered bank branches and post offices. For the first time Canadians will be able to put down their money and receive a registered certificate—without having to mail the money or war savings stamps to Ottawa and wait for receipt of a certificate by mail.

Under the new, over-the-counter plan where sales are made for cash, the chartered banks and post offices will give the purchaser his certificate and send the necessary records to Ottawa.

"The new departure does not conflict in any way with, but is in addition to, the system of bank pledges and the payroll savings plan," the National War Finance committee said in a statement. "These not only continue but will be intensified as major operations of the National War Finance committee in enlisting the savings of the population to help finance Canada's huge share of war costs."

BRITISH PRODUCTION

The Output Of Guns Has Been Greatly Increased

London.—Britain's 42 government ordnance factories are producing 4½ times as many guns as a year ago and twice as many as they were originally intended to turn out, Sir Andrew Duncan, supply minister, told the House of Commons.

He said that although 60 per cent. of the 30,000 weapons now engaged at the plants are women, the output per worker had increased 40 per cent. in the past year.

Opening a parliamentary debate on criticism of government arm factories is a committee report, the supply minister said the plants had "improved beyond what was reasonable to expect."

Raymond, Alta.—Payment of $297,273, the largest subsequent beet payment in the history of sugar beet production in southern Alberta, is being mailed to 1,300 growers.

The payment, based on $1 a ton for the 1941 crop, to be split among the growers, is the third subsequent beet payment made since the initial payment of $6 a ton was made last December and brings the total payment on beets delivered last year up to $7.95 a ton.

Two more payments will be made—one in the fall and the other about late December. Total amount paid for sugar beets grown in this region in 1940 was $7.11 a ton.

AUSTRALIA'S SHARE

Sydney.—Australia's first shipment of food and medical supplies for prisoners of war in Japanese hands will consist of 1,200 tons of material valued at $1,000,000. ($3,550,000). SPIES IN RUSSIA

Nazis Try Various Ruses To Obtain Information

Moscow.—Consul-General of State Security F. Khabatkin asserted the German besiegers of Leningrad have resorted to a wide assortment of ruses, espionage and "Trojan-horse" tactics in their vain efforts to break defence of Russia's northern metropolis.

Writing in the Leningrad Pravda, Khabatkin related how a wounded man in a Russian uniform, picked up in the field and taken to a hospital, tried to get information on supplies from Red army soldiers. He was tried by a court martial as a spy.

The commissar said the Germans also were using peasant garb to try to get behind the Red army lines as refugees, had dropped parachutists in Red army uniforms and had tried to recruit help from classes liquidated by the Soviet government.

Last October, the commissar said, a group of young persons in Leningrad was found to be carrying on counter-revolutionary activities. They even went to the outskirts of the city and fired on the Soviet defenders. They were the children of Russians punished by the government for counter-revolutionary activities, he said.

AIRLINES BUSINESS

Reached An All-Time High During Month Of June

Winnipeg.—Passenger, air mail and express traffic on the Trans-Canada Airlines rose to very heights in June. The majority of them on war business, passengers numbered 10,317, an increase of 768 over May and of 1,688 over June, 1941.

Mail amounted to almost 6,000 pounds a day. The total for June was 174,104 pounds, 7,684 pounds greater than the month before, and 55,201 pounds heavier than the volume in June a year ago.

Express also reached its highest peak, rising from 22,154 pounds in May to 27,406 pounds, an increase of 5,222 pounds. The increase over June, 1941, was 16,803 pounds.

MORE WARSHIPS

Port Arthur, Ont.—Two more warships of the minesweeper class were advanced a step on their way to join Canada's navy when they were christened here. The ships are H.M.C.S. Kenora and H.M.C.S. Milltown.

Take Measures For Security Of The Nation

Saint John, N.B.—Government measures are being fashioned regarding the organization and regulation of Canada's manpower, Labor Minister Mitchell said here in an address to the Canadian club. He did not amplify his statement.

"When I left Ottawa a short time ago," he said, "instruments were being fashioned, having to do with the organization and regulation of the wartime manpower and womanpower of the country. I feel that the average man and woman in this fair land of ours will go to any length to assist the crown in the desperate condition in which we find ourselves today."

He said the government was aware of the implications of the crisis in the war, and in the next two or three months would set in motion measures of "extraordinary" scope to ensure the safety of the state and "boldly drive to offset the menace to civilization now so threatening."

"We are doing things now in our private and public capacity we had never believed possible," he said, "and I am firmly convinced that, given the right leadership, the people of Canada and of all the Allied nations will make every possible sacrifice. Freedom is like the air we breathe. It is not missed until it grows scarce."

The labor minister stressed the need for more shipping to supply the forces of the United Nations.

"Nothing can, or must stand in the way of this supreme necessity at this critical juncture of the fight," he said. "When the final page of this world is completed, it will be written around the ability of this North American continent to produce the means for transporting the tools of warfare to the distant sections of the earth where they are most needed. It will be the old, plodding, 10 and 12-knot carriers, along with the faster and more modern types of vessels which will afford the final success in this closing chapter."

Referring to the price control policy and stabilization of wages, he said these government measures enabled Canadians to live much cheaper than during the First Great War and were safe-guarding old age pensions, workmen's compensation benefits, mothers' allowances and other fixed aids.

Allot Lumber For Storage Of Grain In West

Winnipeg.—The prairies will be able to obtain about 80,000,000 feet of lumber for grain storage purposes in the next three months but the storage situation is at "extremely acute," H. Steinthorson, president of the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association, said.

In Ottawa, Trade Minister MacKinnon said every effort is being made to ensure adequate supplies of lumber and nails are available to the prairie farmers for construction of storage facilities.

Recently returned from conferences at the west coast, where prairie lumbermen and British Columbian manufacturers discussed the grain storage problem with Timber Controller Roseberry, Mr. Steinthorson said he expected about 60,000,000 feet of lumber would be made available to the prairies from B.C. coastal manufacturers. The remaining 20,000,000 feet would come from northern spruce stocks in the northern areas of the prairies.

The prairie delegation had been given assurance about 15,000,000 feet of lumber monthly would be diverted for prairie farm use from B.C. coastal production, upon which heavy demands are already being made by Canada's war effort, Britain and U.S., Mr. Steinthorson said. There was a possibility this figure might reach 20,000,000 feet a month.

However, since the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association survey a month ago, when it estimated 200,000,000 feet would be needed for grain storage, crop prospects had gone higher, he said, and as much as 300,000,000 feet may be required.

The estimate had been based on crop prospects of about 900,000,000 bushels of all grains, whereas one recent estimate had placed the total grain crop at 1,300,000,000 bushels, Mr. Steinthorson said.

War makes innumerable demands on the people of countries involved. Here, in Canada, with a relatively small population, we are faced with the serious problem of finding sufficient men and women for our armed forces, our war and industrial plants. Over and above these requirements there is one other—the shortage of nurses—that is causing considerable concern to those directly associated, and it has reached such proportions that the Dominion government has taken cognizance of the situation.

Normally, Canada numbers approximately 23,000 graduate nurses among her population; but, since the war, at least 1,500 have enrolled with the forces and for service in South Africa, while, it is estimated by the Canadian Nurses Association, the official organization wrestling with this problem, that at least 30 per cent of nurses marry within two years of graduation. With industry expanding to meet war requirements, more and more nurses have been enrolled in the ranks of industry.

Today, therefore, Canada is confronted with an alarming shortage of competent nurses and, with the woman power as it is today, the shortage will become more acute as the months pass.

The Canadian Nurses Association has suggested that the depleted ranks of nurses can only be filled if more and more young women of the age and possessing the aptitude and disposition so essential for this honorable profession, enroll for training; that married nurses take refresher courses to fit them for return to their profession; that more and more competent instructors be found; that scholarships and bursaries be set up for the training of nurses for special and instructional work.

It is an axiom that the nation's health is its most prized possession, and in the preservation of health the graduate nurse fills an important role. Furthermore the training which a nurse receives adequately enriches her whole life, fits her for responsibilities which are a part and parcel of daily life and endows her with knowledge that is always useful.

Within the last few years the preparation of nurses has advanced considerably. Gone are the days when a graduate nurse worked twelve-hour stretches. Today the eight-hour day is definitely recommended and she receives a salary that enables her to live in reasonable comfort.

As Canada, in concert with other United Nations, moves towards the end of the third war-year, therefore this problem promises to be one of some magnitude and it remains to be seen whether the young women of Canada will realize its significance and effect on the life of the nation.

If, as Canadians, we do not solve this problem now, we shall undoubtedly have cause to regret our dilatoriness within the very near future.

But the war may last ten years. It would be no surprise. The Axis has a long head start on the rest of us. The Axis knows it is sink or swim, and they're not going to sink if they can help it. They're fighting a fight of desperation, knowing that they are the gangsters among the world nations.—The Lethbridge Herald.

RAILWAY COMPANIES' BRIEF ON WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

The railway companies' brief said: The Compensation Board should be free to handle all claims, and administer the act fairly and impartially without any outside interference.

If the board is found to be inefficient, the remedy is in the hands of the government to see to it that inefficient officials are removed from office and to make proper appointments based on aptitude for the work involved. But, it was pointed out, the most efficient board cannot function properly if pressure is brought to bear upon it by politicians.

Points which the railways' brief urged were set out as follows:

1. Increase in benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Act have increased as to jeopardize industrial expansion in Alberta.

2. Government pressure on the investment policy of the commission has resulted in the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to employers.

3. It would appear that during the past seven years, administration costs of the act have been excessive.

4. Appointment in February, 1941, of two part-time commissioners has proved unsatisfactory.

5. The three railway companies are definitely opposed to any demands that labor may make to have the benefits under the act increased.

6. Benefits to workmen under the 1938 act have so increased that railway labor has now come under its operation. One union after another has requested that they come under the act, until now all railway labor is subject to the operation of the act.

7. Benefits paid in Alberta compare favorably with those paid in Saskatchewan, British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario and Nova Scotia, and there is no valid argument which can be advanced to justify increasing benefits in Alberta.

8. Investment value of the securities held by the board has been substantially reduced because of the provincial government's interest rates imposed in 1936.

9. Investment of the funds of the board should not be in the hands of the commissioners of the board, but should be in the hands of a committee of three, the chairman of which should be an outstanding insurance actuary.

10. The board should be required to defend itself against the charge of undue extravagance.

11. It is understood in regard to the two part-time commissioners (Alfred Farnillo and W. J. Dick) that their services are limited to 100 days in each year. It is the submission of the railway companies that a board of three full-time commissioners is essential to the proper administration of the act.

The brief presented by the C.P.R., C.N.R. and N.A.R. companies declared that interference with board operations on the part of the M.L.A. had led to a lack of confidence in the board on the part of both employers and employees.

The brief was presented by James McCaig, K.C., Calgary, and associated with him was A. B. Rosevear, K. C., Winnipeg, solicitor for the C.N.R. Western Lines; W. F. Kelsey, of the C.N.R. claims department, Winnipeg; and H. Cormack, district claims agent for the C.P.R. at Calgary.

At the recent state convention of the Oklahoma Press Association in Ponca City, a lawyer speaking to a dinner group addressed them as "members of the fourth dimension," all very much unaware of what he had called the state pressmen.

Unless the Dominion government makes a radical change in its manpower policies, the farmer is going to have an increasingly difficult time of it till the war ends. Competent help is scarce; farmers are being forced to pay high wages to men who are slipshod, lazy, unreliable. Even these hands are gradually diminishing in number.—Calgary Herald.

It takes a stout heart for the Allied Nations to hear day after day, week in and week out, that their military position has become more and more precarious. Nearly three years have elapsed since the opening of this war and the British people have only won one major victory, that of the air battle over Britain. Frankly we would not have been cognizant of that had we not read Alexander de Seversky's recent book. It must have come as quite a shock to most people who read the book to learn that Britain really won that battle. But, we are going to win this war in spite of all the encircling gloom, and we are going to win the peace that follows it.

The Al Lust prize fight recently in Calgary was a characterization of our present position in this war. Up to 20 seconds before the final gong he was considered the loser, but the knock-out blow landed at the psychological moment and he emerged the winner. The United States is risking no move now that might spell defeat. Along with Britain she is holding only on all battle fronts. When the fighting force is ready one big blow will be all that will be required.—Clareholm Local Press.

Help from the high schools of the province for harvesting is being sought, and many school district boards are applying to the Alberta department of education to have high schools closed till October the first, urging that all pupils, male and female, who can be of service to the farmers, should repair to the prairies and help out. Unless the pupils are willing to work, they would not, or should not, be granted such extension of school vacation.

AN OLD CANADIAN CUSTOM . . .

When our pioneer grandparents had a big job to do they called in their neighbours. A barn raising brought help from miles around. Skilled barn framers took charge; sides were chosen and competition between teams lent interest to the work. This old Canadian custom was revived when Canada's National War Finance Committee was formed and went into operation. Under the leadership of the National and Provincial Committees—men experienced in the organization and conduct of financial operations—Local Committees were formed in all communities. Co-operation and competition characterized the work. The biggest "raising" in Canada's history got away to a magnificent start.

WE'VE GOT A BIG JOB TO DO NOW

The War goes on. The National War Finance Committee carries on. Some will serve on the committees organized to promote continued sales of Bonds, War Savings Certificates and Stamps. All of us must continue to buy these securities. We must save every dollar, every cent we can—and lend our money to Canada. We must provide the money required to carry on the war—the money required to win the war.

Our fighters must have more ships and tanks and guns and planes. They must have better ships and tanks and guns and planes than the enemy has. We must all work, and save and lend. The safest investments we can find for our savings are Bonds, War Savings Certificates and Stamps—and they will provide money for us to buy things that we will want when the war is ended.

During his recent visit to Calgary, Albert E. Fiebach, Shriners' Imperial Potentate, warned against premature demands for a second front in Europe. The military authorities, he thinks, know somewhat more about the ripeness or unripeness of time, and when the time arrives they will know what to do without the help of the armchair brigade.

We just happened to notice a few days ago that October 1st next will be the fifth anniversary of the Alberta government's attempt to muzzle the press, when legislation entitled "An Act to Ensure Publication of Accurate News and Information" was introduced in the dying hours of the legislative session—in reality to control the press and require it to publish Social Credit propaganda as prepared by a government press bureau, Dictatorship. No doubt Abe still remembers that silly act. It might have worked in Germany.

As may be seen by a notice elsewhere in this issue, and posters, the people of Frank have an opportunity to buy outright their water system. To us it appears as a most reasonable offer. In fact, no better could be expected. A vote of the ratepayers on the proposition is to be taken on Monday, August 31st, at the Community Hall.

Scores of people from Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, High River, Nanton, Claresholm, Granum and Macleod have been enjoying camping along the Carbondale river. Fishing is not really the best, but camping is ideal. There are also some campers at Kelly's Camp. Up the North Fork, fishermen report fair fishing along the Nor' West branch and the Livingstone, but no word has come from Race Horse, which seems to have been forgotten.

Almost daily we have calls from oldtimers, some we know and some we don't. They all try to tell us a little of their history, but like Brother Horton, of Vegreville, we are unable to hear. So, for their benefit, we have set aside about 475 to 1,255 sheets of notepaper, upon which they can leave with us items of importance, not only to themselves, but to everybody. WHY COMPLAIN?

People who complain because they cannot get some of the luxuries they enjoyed in pre-war days might do well to remember that our forefathers lived without sugar until the 18th century, without coal until the 14th, without butter on their bread until the 15th, without tobacco or potatoes until the 17th, without umbrellas and lamps until the 18th, without any trains, telephones, gas or matches until the 19th, and without street cars, automobiles or flying machines until the 20th century. All these things may be thought necessary now, but the high cost of living is certainly not reduced by over-indulgence in their use.—Ex.

CORNER BEEF GOES TO PRISONERS OF WAR

Recently stocks of canned corner beef in the hands of retailers and distributors were "frozen" by the War-time Prices and Trade Board. One good reason for this action was to keep up the supply the Red Cross sends to Canadian prisoners of war.

Corner beef can be eaten for days on end without ill effect, and for that reason is a valuable item in parcels for prisoners. Tins of corner beef are also needed for the navy and merchant marine, and form emergency rations in the lockers of life boats and of life rafts. It also serves as a reserve ration for the Active Army, for lighthouse keepers and for isolated defence posts in Canada.

Retailers having one case of corner beef, or more, in stock, are required to turn it over to a distributor, who in turn, holds it for distribution by the Board.

ROSES FOR MR. ILSLEY

We do not mean a wreath of roses to be laid on his coffin—though sometimes he must long for that cool, quiet slab where budgets cease from troubling.

The roses we wish to give the Hon. Mr. Ilsley, minister of finance, are done up in a nice bouquet, with suitable ribbons.

They are not entirely for the Budget itself, although that was an honest job, but for the way he steered it through the long parliamentary debates; for his good temper, understanding of different points of view, his evident desire to compromise and correct when possible, and his magnificent grasp of the intricate details of war finance.

Following the debate on the man power bill this debate on the Budget showed the House of Commons at its best—just as the conscription debate had showed it at its worst.

Some rose petals should therefore also be scattered among the members of the House of all parties who got down to earth, spoke to the point, avoided blathering, and helped Mr. Ilsley give Canada a tough but good Budget.—Family Herald and Weekly Star.

Lieutenant Sailed Corvette Across Atlantic Equipped With Wooden Gun

Mention the name of a certain Newfoundland skipper of a Canadian naval vessel operating near a St. Lawrence port and the chances are you'll hear how, as a lieutenant in the early days of the war, he sailed a corvette across the Atlantic with a telephone pole lashed on the forward deck to resemble a four-inch gun.

Canada was just embarking on her naval expansion program then, and there was no forward gun available to put a sting in the newly-launched corvette. The ship was to proceed to Britain to mount the gun but enemy submarines and surface ships made the journey anything but a pleasant prospect.

So her lieutenant commandeered the telephone pole trimmed it down to size and mounted it on the gun platform. An improvised gun-shield and wooden "shells" in the racks completed the hoax.

The corvette ran the gauntlet in safety and has since been attached to the Royal Navy, but she passed through the danger zone only to run afoul of one of Britain's mightiest aircraft carriers on the other side.

The perky corvette glided into a river harbor in Britain and moored at the first convenient buoy. Soon afterwards the carrier came sweeping in with her escort, frantically signalling to the pigma on the spooring to move because that particular spot belonged to the carrier.

The corvette got out of there fast, and dropped anchor farther up the river. When both ships were safely moored the carrier blinked a report to the impertinent corvette: "You have caused me a good deal of trouble today."

"Not half as much trouble as you have caused me," the corvette replied. Naval officers who tell the story usually end it there, with no indications of the upshot of the exchange. But the Newfoundland lieutenant is a commander now.

Do Not Like To Take Time Out For Tea

Youngsters of the American Air Force in Ireland like the Spitfires they are learning to fly and the R.A.F. instructors who are teaching them the intricacies of the British fighter—but they're fighting mad about having to knock off every afternoon for tea.

"Why take time out for tea when we've got a job to do?" asked Lieut. Gene Keyes, of Cleveland, O., amidst a chorus of approval from his mates. "Why take time out to serve tea when what we want to serve is TNT?"

The American doctor attached to their training unit thought the British tea time was a good idea. "We people are always in a hurry," he said. "This tea time gives us an opportunity to sit down, relax and exchange ideas."

The Americans are learning how to fly the Spitfires within a few days of their arrival at this base and many already have piled up a considerable number of hours in them. Almost without exception they think it is one of the best all-round fighting ships they have flown.

Survival Of Czechs

This Is Not The First Time That War Has Ravaged The Country

The Czechs are going through hell. Yet they were subjected to the same ordeal 300 years ago.

The total war is no new experience to them.

During the Thirty Years' War of 3,000,000 inhabitants of Bohemia only 800,000 Czechs were left; the Czech intellectuals were exterminated or banished to foreign lands; all the cultural life was crushed; the wealthy Czech classes were destroyed, and the Czech language became solely a language of serfs. Yet they survived in spite of all this, and during the First World War they became the chief instrument of destruction of the proud monarchy of the Hapsburgs, who enslaved them.

They will survive the new ordeal and jointly with other United Nations will destroy the Third Reich of Hitler, as they destroyed Austria-Hungary.—News of Czechoslovakia.

Explanations and Comments

Isaac Refuses to Quarrel, Genesis 26:12-22. A hundredfold was the yield which Isaac obtained from his sowing, and so great were his flocks and herds and his household that the Philistines envied him. Their envy led them to fill up the wells which Abraham had dug and Isaac was using, and Abimelech, their king, ordered Isaac to leave. Although Isaac was, as his enemies admitted, stronger than they, he would not strive with them. Without wells he could not support his cattle, and he moved on and erected his camp in the valley of Gerar.

"It used to be a mark of a gentleman that he would instantly resent an encroachment on his rights, and pick a quarrel at a moment's notice. Today that would be a mark of ill-breeding. Where education and Christian culture have done their full work there is most patience and gentleness."

Isaac re-dug the wells made by Abraham, which the Philistines had stopped up, and called them by the names given them by his father. In digging for a new well in the valley, a well of spring water was found. There is an underground stream of water flowing beneath the rock through the valley past Hebron, Gerar and Beersheba. The herdsmen of Gerar contended with Isaac's herdsmen, claiming the water as theirs. Recall the trouble that arose because of the contention of Abraham's herdsmen with those of Isaac. Isaac called that well Esek, Contention, and dug another well. For that they contended also, and Isaac called it Sitnah, Hatred.

Again Isaac moved on and dug another well. This one he called Rehoboth, Room, for there his enemies contended not; and Isaac said, "For now Jehovah hath made room for us, and we shall be fruitful in the land." We may be sure that the word expressed the feeling that was in his soul, because he had won out by yielding rather than by fighting. It seemed to him a broad and generous land, for it held no enemies for him. A well or two would have been poor comfort to him compared with that sense of satisfaction which he had in winning a great victory by altogether peaceful methods.

"Shall we fight about the wells of the world," someone asks, "or shall we build our lives about the conviction that the Lord has made room for us all?"

The topaz received its name from Topazan, an island in the Red Sea, the first locality to produce the gem.

DIVIDENDS FROM HEALTH

"We look after our machines, then why not offer our human machines the same care?" is the question posed in an article "Dividends From Health" in the summer issue of Health Magazine official organ of Health League of Canada, which is devoted to the subject of health for industrial workers.

Chief cause of absenteeism in wartime industry is neither strike nor accidents but sickness, the article states, noting that the average worker earns nine and a half days' work and wages per year—nine days through sickness and non-industrial accidents—a half day through occupational accidents. This estimated yearly wage loss in Canada is over 50 million dollars.

In terms of production the value of the work lost is considerably higher. It is shown that the employer's loss is one and a half times the wages lost through this same illness. The estimated figure in Canada approximates 75 million dollars annually.

Many factories today, using adequate health measures, are reducing by up to 50 per cent. the average yearly loss of nine and a half days' work and wages per worker.

What, exactly, are adequate health measures in industry? Briefly: To ascertain, by examination, the physical and mental condition of the prospective employee—and by so doing to place men and women in the type of work best suited to them.

To maintain and improve the health and efficiency of those already employed.

To educate the worker in accident prevention and personal hygiene.

To reduce lost time and absenteeism because of illness or injury.

To improve working conditions.

A report issued by the Division of Industrial Hygiene, Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa, points out that in Canada about 80 per cent. of all establishments and 50 per cent. of establishments with more than 500 employees have no formal arrangements for the services of a physician; that the services of a nurse are only available in 668 establishments.

Dr. Victor O. Heiser, medical consultant to the National Association of Manufacturers in the United States reports that the average 500-employee factory saves over $5,000 annually with a program of health conservation. The Industrial Division of the Health League of Canada offers data to show that health promotion in the factory means improved efficiency and reductions in such categories as accidents, occupational disease, absenteeism and labour turnover.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

The meaning of her father's words washed over Tamar in startling suddenness. Louise's plane had crashed! Was Therese with him, and when had it happened? These things she must know before they went to answer the knocking on the door which had by this time become insistent.

"Yes, a woman was with him, and it happened yesterday afternoon. It took some time to reach them, because of the density of the pine forest on the mountain, where they crashed," her father told her as they hurried downstairs.

Phoebe had got to the door by this time, and Tamar could hear the earnestness in her voice for the benefit of the policeman who was just an ordinary human being. Tamar was

LADIES GROUP CONSERVE TEA AND COFFEE

Try Different Drink at Meeting

Neither coffee nor tea were served, as is the usual custom, at the quarterly meeting of the local Ladies Aid, but an excellent beverage was used, and the guests commented upon its delicious flavor. The president explained that the tea and coffee was in deference to the request of the Government. Expressing satisfaction at the success of the experiment, the chairman said Postum—the beverage used—had taken less sugar than would have been used for tea and coffee. It had cost less than either tea or coffee and was a saving to the treasury, as well as a saving on tea, coffee, sugar.

Whether it's a meeting of a society or a meal in your own home, Postum provides the easy way to conserve tea and coffee. Grand, heartening flavor—economical—so easy to make.

Just to be sure Tamar ran up the back stairs and put her head in the little room that belonged to Phoebe.

She was sitting bolt upright in bed. "Dat you, Tamarah?"

"Yes, Phoebe, has Billie been here tonight?"

"No, Tamarah. Why, child? He done gone wit Misd' Todd to Birmingham dis week. Day gwine to fetch back a batch of blooded m'es."

She started to get out of bed, her long white gown voluminous in the moonlight. "No, don't bother. Ranny saw someone run and Dad's calling the police."

"Won't dey neve be no mo' peace heah at Shadwell?" Phoebe groaned. "An' don' go to thinkin' that might be Billie. Dat man am skewed by he own shade," Tamarah. She sank back on her pillow.

Tamar ran back down the stairs and joined her father and Ranny. Her black hair lay in loose waves to her shoulders, her face luminous in the firelight. Ranny, stealing a glance, thought he had never seen her looking more beautiful.

"Whoever it was won't be back, we can be sure. I think I might as well go to home," Ranny said, standing up and walking over to pick up his hat.

"Please wait, Ranny. I don't think you ought to go now."

"Whoever it was, is more afraid of these men are of him," he ventured. "But I'll wait with you until the police come."

"The chief was rather sharp with me," Knox Randolph said. He had wanted to leave some men out here for a few nights, and I asked him to withdraw them. I had hoped that it was all over."

"I can't imagine any one coming back so soon after all of this has happened," Tamar explained. The same thought struck them all at once; could this person be the accomplice who had removed the strongbox from the shaft in the horses' burial plot?

Ranny said: "I've got an idea. Let me take your gun. I promise to be careful. I've got to go and no one can help me. It will be easier before the police arrive."

Egg Quality

Eggs Need To Be Carefully Handled

On The Farm

Saving egg quality not only means saving dollars, but it is helping to meet the heavy demand for eggs from both Britain and Canada. Every one who handles eggs in any way from producer to consumer may contribute to the loss of quality, if care is not taken. The first place that eggs need to be carefully handled is on the farm. Cleanliness, frequent collection—at least three times a day in the hot months of summer and placing them in a cool place as soon as they are collected is important. There is a three-cent bonus paid on Grade A eggs for export to Britain.

Losses from dirty eggs are usually the result of dirty nests and houses and allowing the birds to run out of doors into muddy yards. Such eggs mean a loss to the producer of eight to 10 cents a dozen because they are put into the lowest grade.

High quality eggs follow with judicious feeding of a properly balanced ration. Clean nests, pens and yards will facilitate the production of clean eggs. It is best to hold eggs, after they have been collected, in a wire basket. When thoroughly cooled they should be packed in a standard case with the small end down and marketed frequently.

YOU CAN WIN AFTER 40 SHOWN IN PITKIN'S BOOK

"Failure" Can Become Success

So you think you're a failure? Past 40 and you never got that promotion. You never swung that deal. Depressing, blind-alley thoughts? Walter B. Pitkin shows that at 40 you're just getting your start! In his "Life Begins at 40," a book that has inspired 1,000,000 readers, he gives case after case of successful men whose score was zero until middle age.

Dr. J. A. Britton explained to the American Medical Association that 45 to 55 are the years of maximum efficiency. Beethoven, Goya and Michelangelo did their best work after 40.

Your only weakness in middle age is a purely muscular one. You can't whack a tennis ball as you once could, but how much better you can tackle a mental problem than your juniors! You have experience, judgment, balance.

Pitkin says: "Nobody knows much about this complex world until he is close to 40." The tables should be turning in your favor. If they don't, give them a strategic push!

Our 32-page booklet is a condensation of Walter B. Pitkin's "Life Begins at 40" (permission of Whittey House). Learn from it how to make the most of your mind and energy and win happiness, success in the middle years.

Father—My son, promise to give up all your bad habits, and I'll give you $50,000.

Combatant—Aw, we want fightin'.

We wuz jus' defendin' ourselves from each other.
